

Italian Jazz Days, World-Class Music and Musicians

Natasha Lardera (September 27, 2012)

Produced by TwinsMusic, the festival of jazz Italian-style will take place from October 1-9 and will be held in different locations: the acclaimed Dizzy's Club Coca-Cola (Columbus Circle), in the historic pizzeria Arturo's (West Village, in the modern restaurants Brio Flatiron (920 Broadway), Le Pescadeux (Soho) and Robert (Columbus Circle).

It is time for Italian jazz... as the fall approaches New York City readies itself for its fourth annual celebration of jazz Italian-style. This year the Festival, Italian Jazz Days will feature forty musicians for a real jazz feast.

Produced by Twins Music [2], Italian Jazz Days will celebrate world-class music and musicians for more than an entire week, opening on October 1st, and closing on the 9th. The artists will perform in different locations: the acclaimed Dizzy's Club Coca-Cola [3] (Columbus Circle), in the historic pizzeria Arturo's (West Village, in the modern restaurants Brio Flatiron [4] (920 Broadway), Le Pescadeux 5 and Robert [6](Columbus Circle).

Opening night will be held at Bar on Fifth [7] a venue inside the Italian five-star hotel Setai, just along fashionable Fifth Avenue. The closing nights (October 8-9) are much anticipated.

Among the highlights: the Italian pianist Antonio Ciacca [8] will debut at Dizzy's Coca-Cola with a Big Band of 15 musicians. Ciacca has been preparing for this magnificent performance since 2009, writing and recording for the big band. Taking inspiration from his mentor Benny Golson [9], and having programmed shows at Jazz at Lincoln Center [10] for four years, Ciacca has developed a strong love and vitality for the big band. He promises fireworks.

Italian Jazz Days will host world renewed musicians, such as guitarists Lucio Ferrara [11] and Luca Nostro [12], saxophonist Attilio Troiano [13], crooner Walter Ricci, bass player Giuseppe Venezia, drummer Elio Coppola, trumpeter Nicola Tariello [14]. On the stage, there will also be American musicians with Italian blood in their veins. Guitarist Randy Napoleon [15], renewed for having recorded a Grammy-nominated album with the international star Michael Bublé [16], will lead the opening night. Joseph Lepore [17] (bass), Pete Malinverni [18] (piano), John Di Martino [19] (piano), Gene Bertoncini (guitar) [20], Gabrielle Stravelli [21] (singer) will offer intimate night concerts. Also on stage: pianist Simona Premazzi [22] and drummer Luca Santaniello [23]; who moved from Italy to New York specifically to pursue their dreams in the land of jazz and who are today very well known in the clubs in the West Village.
